

Title:
"Measure for Measure"

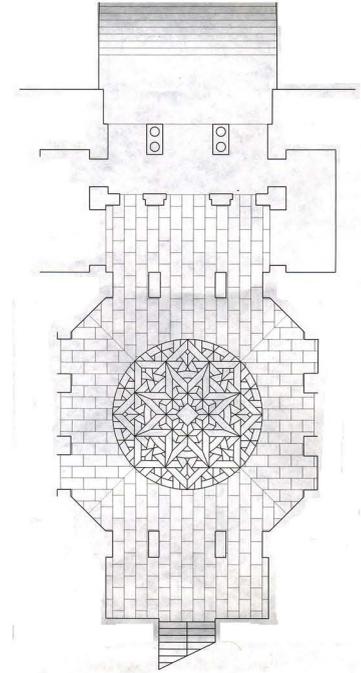

Date completed:
1999

Location:
Stadel Museum, Frankfurt, Germany.
Stadelsches Kunstinstitut and Stadtische Galerie, Schaumainkai in Sachsenhausen,
Frankfurt am Main.

Project:
Marble and limestone floor in the eight sided entrance hall foyer, illuminated by an oculus centered directly under the second story glass ceiling cupola. This is a renovation of the original 19th century museum building.

Dimensions:
Diameter 22'

Architects:
Jochem Jourdan, Jourdan & Muller Architects

"Measure for Measure"

Materials:

A white grey-veined Italian marble and black marble combined with the local sandstone which forms the existing floor. The stone is laser-cut in an "opus sectile" manner.

Fabrication:

Franz Mayer of Munich

Sponsor:

Commissioned by the Stadel and funded with a gift from the Frankfurter Sparkasse 1822 on the occasion of the bank's 175th anniversary.

